

Data Extractions and Migrations

Our experience and acumen enables us to deliver solutions other vendors cannot.

We bring a unique perspective and can help architect truly elegant solutions.

Akcia is experienced in extracting data from Cerner's Classic™ and Millennium™ architectures. We provide this service to clients seeking to upload data into another platform or off load data into a repository. Data is provided in a variety of formats such as ASCII files, relational database formats, as well as chart images and other requested outputs. We have extracted data across all of Cerner's® product lines.

► Project Life Cycle

Akcia typically engages in a project of this nature in conjunction with personnel that have knowledge of the ultimate end point of the extracted data. We plan, develop, manage, and provide data from the Cerner® platform to the technical personnel that are responsible for the new location of the data. Akcia works with these personnel in planning, project management, status reporting, issue resolution and validity testing from the Cerner® information system side.

Additionally, our staff is able to provide professional counseling on the basic approach and make recommendations as to data to extract and formats that facilitate the ultimate goal of the project. We have done this before and bring this knowledge and exposure to the table.

► Deliverables and Technologies

Akcia typically provides the extracted data in electronic format as well as on media. We test to ensure that the extracted data is complete and accurate by comparison and sampling of the data.

The extracts can be provided in text files or database formats in any required arrangement.

We utilize CCL® in conjunction with other scripting and development tools to aggregate data and accomplish more challenging extract requirements.

Single Focus. Extraordinary Results.
